Editor's Notes

I've heard alot of people, and you know who you are, been saying EDO is in competiton with local mags. Saying things like were not as good etc. These peoples names need not be mentioned! The point is who is in competition? let me define competition; business rivalry between persons or firms striving for the same market. A striving against other or others for same prize. Skating was meant to be fun! The only real thing that should be competitive is contest, but fun is associated, not money. Too bad skate companys are already, or always have and always will, been in competition cause that already starts to ruin it. Skating was meant to be fun and this mag tries to base itself on this. Not competing against others. It sure would be a bad thing for a great thing like skating turn into competition like for the Stanley Cup. Remember skate for fun, not competition! Christian

City hopes to brake skateboarders

Waikiki sidewalks may soon be off limits for skateboards and roller skates.

That's if the City Council approves a proposal from city Transportation Services Director John Hirten.

As part of his attempt to clean up Waikiki's sidewalks for pedestrians, Hirten has asked the council to enact a bill that would:

- Ban the riding of skateboards, roller skates, coasters, toy vehicles or similar devices on any sidewalk in a "business district" — primarily Waikiki.

- Require that those using skates or skateboards on sidewalks outside business districts yield the right of way to pedestrians. The skater or skateboarder also would have to "give an audible warning signal before overtaking and passing such pedestrian."

In a letter to the council, Hirten said the bill, if enacted, would apply islandwide, "but (is) primarily needed in Waikiki."

Kalakaua Avenue, Hirten wrote, "has the greatest amount of pedestrian traffic of any sidewalks within our state."

"Currently, however, there are serious problems inhibiting pedestrian flow there caused by the proliferation of newsstands and tourist publication dispensers, ill-placed planter boxes and other street furniture.

"Thus, the pedestrian, in this high volume of slow-moving traffic, is endangered by persons on roller skates, skateboards and other similar devices.

"We have received numerous complaints about this matter from residents of Waikiki, and they particularly single out the skateboard riders, racing down Kalakaua Avenue sidewalks, zigzagging between pedestrians and the existing clutter."

The City Council Housing and Transportation Committee yesterday gave initial approval to the bill, which must pass three votes by the full council.

Chris Stone in GUAM →

Chris Stone has definitely been making it big in the headlines. He gave Edo a call all the way from Guam. First he sent us this contribution from a local newspaper. Then he called tell us that he has recently been sessioning Wallos ditch in Hawaii with Christ and Johnee Kopp. He told us he would be back in the states as soon as a relative checked out. One night I got this collect call from LAH airport to tell

Dear Circus Shatter / EDO skate mag.

Here are some pics from MARS.#1 contest, one from Dallas, and one of me.

I like the pics in your Feb. 1985 issue (though it says Feb '84), and Things to Look for, and the reviews on skate equipment.

There are five female skaters in the area:
Cindy Pendergast came in 7th Place Division at M.A.R.S. #1 contest.

The best songs on Skate Rock Vol. II beside T.S.O.L. are

1. "Blue Flames" by Anvil Chorus
2. "Friends + Enemies" by The Faction
3. "Ready to Rip" by Kingpins
4. "Something New" by Los Olvidados

Right here in our own backyards Jay Adam's ramp in Arlington has been in the post (about 6-8 months ago) But Christian is pretty sure one morning that when he woke up he saw Jay's ramp on channel 5's newsmag. In the background he was fairly sure that he saw Wade of Lapper mag.

The Cedar Crest Metal Ramp is now functional. The birth of this ramp is in the new Lapper. They're holding a spring contest May 24+25. See you there!

A Skateboard Controversy

Arlington Ramp Riles Some

By Nancy Scannell
Washington Post Staff Writer

When Jay Madrid built a skateboard ramp in his Arlington back yard last May, he expected most of his visitors to be other teen-age skateboarders—not the squad of county officials and neighbors who have converged in only slightly smaller numbers.

County building inspectors, zoning inspectors, planning commissioner and officials with noise-monitoring equipment have flocked to the large ramp at 233 N. Garfield St. to view the semicircular plywood ramp that is 28 feet long and rises out 16 feet into the air.

"This has really gotten to be so out of proportion," said Frances Madrid, who, with her husband, John, put up the $1,500 it took for Jay, 16, and some friends to design and build the ramp. The ramp sits in the midst of heavy vegetation and trees, which the Madrids said they thought would screen it from the neighbors.

But the neighbors say it is an intrusion in their peaceful, residential Lyon Park neighborhood. "Of a sudden we've got this monstrosity here," said neighbor Jerome Dick, who is wary the ramp will attract carloads of other skateboarders. "It's unsightly, it's noisy . . . I it causes a detriment to my property."

When the ramp is in use, it sounds much like a roar of thunder, not to mention the accompanying yells of participants," neighbor Wendell Brown wrote in a letter to the County Board.

Madrids, the ramp provides a "structure-homesome" summer activity that keeps a 17-year-old son at home and away from skateboarding on streets and Madrid neighbors have signed against the ramp, the opponents to the county, where of the Madrids failed to seek permits to build and use the ramp they did not know a permit was required.

County staff has recommended to approve a use permit at the ramp is structurally sound, noise levels and the county's planning commission last week voted 5 to 3 against recommending a permit because of the neighbors' complaints. The Madrids are not the first family to find that neighbors object to the skateboard ramps. Similar concerns were raised in a case in Potomac last spring after a back yard skateboard contest drew more than 40 participants from a wide area.

Jay Madrid, with his skateboard, kneels on the ramp he designed and built in his North Arlington yard.

"It's really a frightening undertaking to try to do anything on your property," Frances Madrid said yesterday as she watched Jay do lightning-fast "drop-ins" and "axle stalls" on the board.

Jay Madrid says he is pessimistic about getting a permit from County Board, and believes some of the neighbors' opposition is rooted in the fact that the ramp "is a different thing. No one's had a ramp before, so it's got to come down."

"This all gets to be a matter of principle. You're talking about what you want on your property," said Frances Madrid, where her family has lived for 11 years. That principle may become second nature in maintaining a happy community."

CURLY JOE RAMP CONTEST

IN LATE AUGUST '85 AT CHRISTIAN SHATTO'S HOUSE A RAMP CONTEST TOOK PLACE. THE RAMP ITSELF IS SMALL, 6 FEET HIGH, 10 FLAT, 8 WIDE. THE NUMBER OF CONTESTANTS WERE SMALL, BUT THE SPECTATORS WAS A VERY ENCOURAGING AMOUNT; 50 OR MORE. SO THIS LEAD TO THE SKATERS SKATING AT THEIR BEST TO LET THE CROWD GET THEIR MONEYS WORTH, FREE.

TO start off were the thirteen and under skaters. Don't let their age fool you! About ten or so of these dudes took their three runs each and the five best walked away with prizes. In the future look out for John Reeke, who took second with surprising handplants and airs! But Blaike Phillips, being an everyday skater at the ramp, took first due to his bigger size than the others and more endurance!

Now on to the 14 and older ones. There were about 10 entrants and the best five also walked away with prizes. The battle was between Tim Weber, Paul Murray, Christian Shatto and Matt Tipples. These four dudes shred the ramp regularly, and seeing that they know each others routines it was even more enthusiastic! Everyone was allowed five runs each. And right before they got under way more spectators came to build the atmosphere even stronger! Tim Weber took fourth pulling some sketchy airs. Paul Murray would of placed higher had he not tried to impress the crowd with 4-5 ft. boneless ones, he finally pulled a couple to earn him top three spot!

Matt Tippens skated on in to second with consistency and only fell twice. Christian Shatto was nervous at first, but later started to rip on his own terrain with aggressiveness and consistency on any trick he tried.

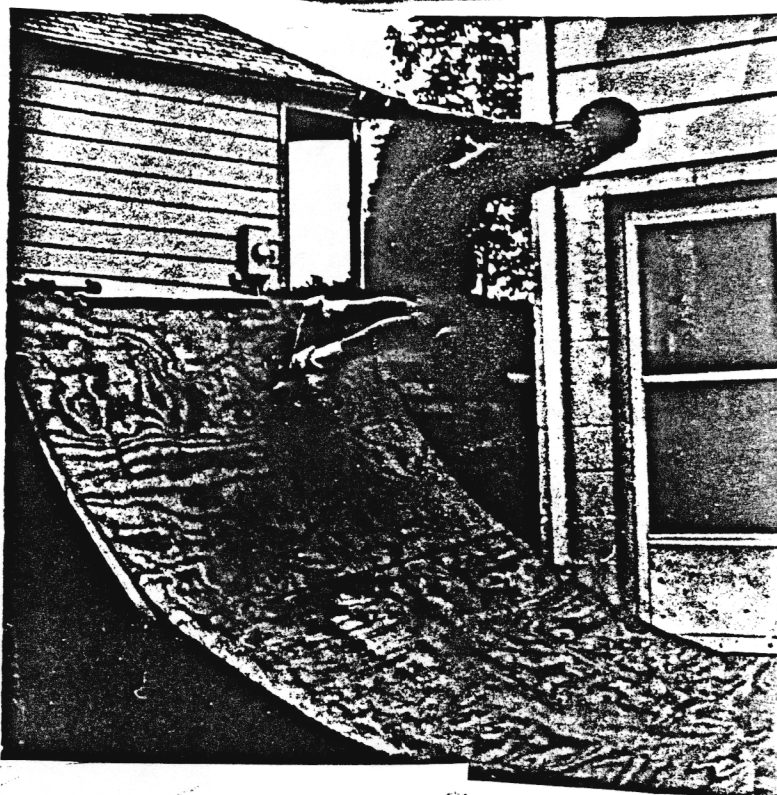

Afterwards the sticker toss began with about 70 spectators, which meant blood, fights, boards, re-caps and wheels!

I'd like to thank all the judges. John Treiber, who came down from Maine, Jeff Elison and my friend Rob from summer school. I'd also like to wish thanx to the companies that sent lavish prizes; Sure-Grip, Motobilt, SmithRe-Caps, Tracker, Madrid and Brand-X.

Another note. The ramp is being made with more flat, width and height and we anticipate another great summer jam!

DAY 2

Visit the city of San Jose! I really like this town alot! Its green, big, and clean, at least where I was at!

MOTOBILT

Thanks alot to Bill posey for letting me go and see the Motobilt factory! Isaw where bill, works out of his home, makes the trucks, boards, and business deals go down. It was way cool! This dude no doubtldy is great! He had rooms full of just trucks, axles, boards, wheels and decals!! I was way stoked except if Randy would of been there I could of probably gone and skated a ramp; but talking to Bill in person made up for it! So after an exciting conversation I snaged two sets of trucks, a set of rat wheels and about a half full bag of stickers, now Bill knows where they all went.

Bill had to get back to work so I took a few photos of him in action and then left. Thanks again Bill and Motobilt workers for everything!

DAY 3

5 in the morning and I hear what I think is a thunderstorm or train going through the kitchen. All of the sudden my bed was shaking and I felt like the girl in the exorcist; my body jumping as if I was having a ceasar after trying a rocket air in the combi-pool then landing on my head! It lasted for about a minute 1/2. It was second in three days. Not bad for a out of towner!

Later on I go down to Skates On Haight where I finally meet my good friend Lee Cole. I bought a Hammerhead and later on lee gave me a free skates on haight sweat-shirt! That was way cool of him! He showed me the back where I took pics. I saw where they take orders and store their storage supplies. They've got everything you could ever think of for skates, surfing,skimming,snowboarding and any other rad sports you can think of! Thanx Lee!

DAY 4

Well I guess by now your wondering about street action?! I did some around the Mission distict and got hassled by some old lady. I figured she had'nt had here daily dosage of geritol or it must of been the lady GSD crutch-sweeoped! I got in touch with Kevin Thatcher and got directions to the dish and HP HALF; ramp; I got lost and couldn't find either. What a bummer!

Later I went to Fogtown skates. As soon as you walk in this place you can definently tell these dudes are hardcore! They had one of Hosois decks with the dragon graphics. It looked way cool!

HOSOI'S ORIGINAL DECK AT FOGTOWN SKATES

DAY 5

Included packing and getting ready for the plane to LA. But before I left I stoped in to see Lee and found out about the Boys Club Ramp, soon to be functional thank to Lee.

At about 8:30 our flight arrived at LAX. If you look for the time here the clocks say Schmitt-Stix. On the way in you can see this city about 80 miles away its so big! I went down to baggage to hear my name over the speakers; my party was supposedly there, but he was'nt! Till finally I see Jeff! He takes my boards while I get all my luggage. Jeff is a K'er but hes way cool and gets so rad! As we get to his car I'm struglin' with my luggage while he starts showing me his street ollies on my boards!

I get into Woodland Hills where Jeff lives and we ride some hot banks! Finally we go to eat and end up at the only place that excepts travelers checks; International House of Pancakes.

DAY 6

I get up with Jeff and went to school with him. Believe it or not school there is way cool, espically about giving out visitor passes. Its outdoors, everyones cool and everyones into surfing or skating and any other rad sports you can name! What was really funny was when people asked me where I lived and I'd say Va and get the worst laughs! I'd laugh too, or I always have at springfield. After school we go to zuma beach. Jeffs' friends are all into rad sports. Todd surfs, and is sometimes filmed and used in a movie or tv. show, Larry skimboards and Marcus owns a mexican restaurant. While we skim we see some joe TV. bigshots filming a movie down at the other end of the beach. After a harsh 55 degrees in the pacific Marcus takes us all to Ciscos, his restaurant, for free food.

DAY 7

While Jeff goes to school I take a skate adventure around Woodland Hills. There are some pretty cool banks and theyre great for doing street tricks. I checked out the local mall and surf shops for some clothes and then went back to Jeff's. When Jeff got home we decided to go to Hollywood and shop. But instead cruzed on down to Val Surf and buy some hot threads. Latter on we skarfed at some pizza place called Straw Hat.

DAY 8

Another day of school with Jeff where I enjoyed conversations with Terra, Danna, a typical betty from Cal., Kerii and too many others to recall. All I can say is Jeff owes me from stopping a lady from giving him a ticket, otherwise it would of costed him 100 dollars extra each month on his car insurance. After school we rush back to Jeff's to pack for Huntington Beach where our good friend Raffi lives. But before our depature Jeff and I conceive the idea to make a "Micro size Hammer-head"; we heard it would rain alot over the weekend. Coming from fighting two hours of traffic and bünming a 100 dollars from my brother we finnaly make it there. Raffi, Jeff, I and some of Raffi's friends decide to go to a beach party. As soon as it even gets lame we leave and go street skate. And then another earth quake occured! But I like them, theyre fun!

HUNTINGTON BEACH

JEFF AND RAFFI AT NORMAL WESTMINSTER STREET SESSIONS!

DAY 9

We wake up early to spend a few hours and help Raffi move from his apartment to his new house with a really hot pool! It has the most perfect transistions to ride! Later on we ended up at Skillys, the minster half! It has the smoothest transistions with a foot of vert! It is the best ramp I ever skated and is undoubtdly the easiest to pull airs out of! The metal coping has a wild bark to it when you grind. Jim Gray showed and pulled some really high airs. He was way cool and could stall the longest on inverts I've ever seen anyone do! Not to mention the fakie ollies he would float 4-5 feet and over the channel. All the locals rip! This one kid was even pulling lean to tails and he was so kicked back about it. Skilly is pretty good too but has a major attitude problem! But I'd probably be the same if all these pros came to my ramp; no I wouldn't! But after an hour of hot sesioning it rained! Good thing I made that board cause did it ever rain!

DAY 10

Upland! Upland, California is a city you hit while going on up to the southern California mountains east of Anaheim. The weather was sunny with a 45% chance of rain. As we were 10 blocks away from the park it started to pour hard! We didn't stop and once we got to the park it was sunny? This weather was soo unpredictable while I was there! When I got inside to sign up I was confronted with the worst dream ever! No parent signature, no skating! Jeff told me before I even came to cal. I wouldn't need anything like that, I was soo bummed! I even tried to bribe the owner but he said since he doesn't have insurance he couldn't take chances! I wanted one of those little membership cards so badlu with mu nic and name. I watched Jeff ride his bike in the pipeline. He was doing 360 flyouts and catching some hot little airs. I checked out the combi-pool and is it ever deep! You would think the combi would take up alot of room, right, wrell it doesn't! The park was small, but has a cool ditch to bowl, 3-4 8 FT. deep bowls, a bike racing track, snack bar and skate shop. I saw a roller skater skate and he was hitting pass vert in the pipeline and catching 5-8 foot airs, insane! I got depressed cause I couldn't skate and prayed for rains, then they came! On the way back to Raffi's I talked jaeff and him to take a dip in the pool. The water was so cold that my arteries are just starting to defrost. Afterwards Jeff and I had to get back to his place and a goodbye was the only thing left to say except untill next time!

ANAHEIM STADIUM ON THE WAY TO UPLAND.

JEFF CATCHING AIR IN THE PIPELINE BOWL. JEFF IN THE PIPELINE PAST VERT! JEFF IS THE ONLY COOL XER!

DAY 11

This day just consisted of going to Sherman Oaks Galleria, Beverly Hills and Los Angeles. This nights dinner with Jeff would be the last I would see of him untill the next time. Afterwards we jammed around Redondo Beach, where I stayed with my brother's friend untill my flight the next day, and we talked of good old Va and the vert scene. This was the end of my trip!

On the flight back I would remember everyone I had met, everything I had done, every place I skated or did'nt, all the different beaches, all the different places I slept, all the different highways I had riden on and the good old taco bell where I spent a good portion of my skarfig at.

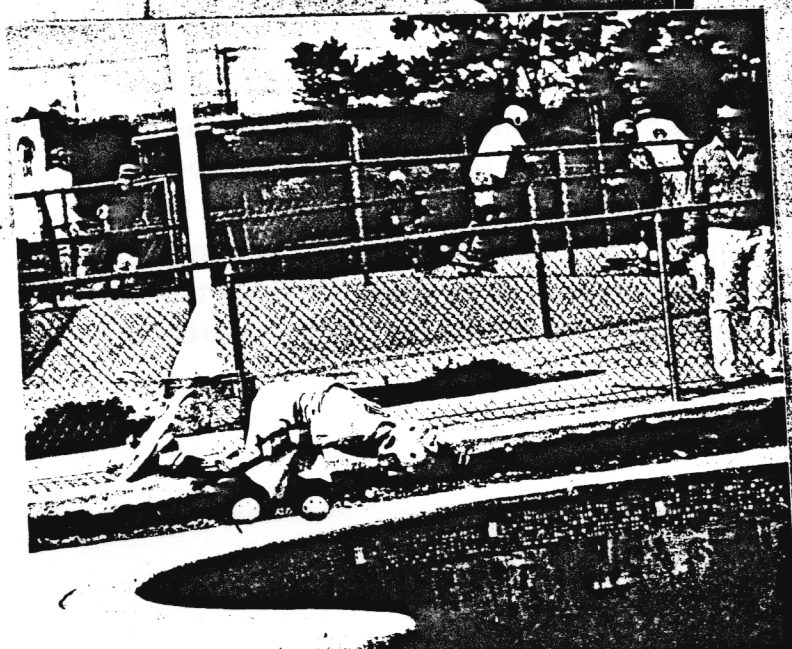

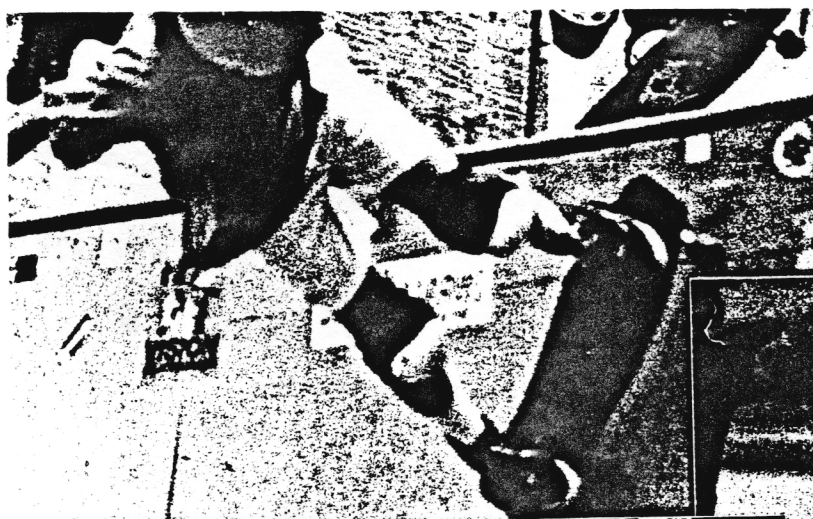

VISTA POINT
SAN FRANCISCO

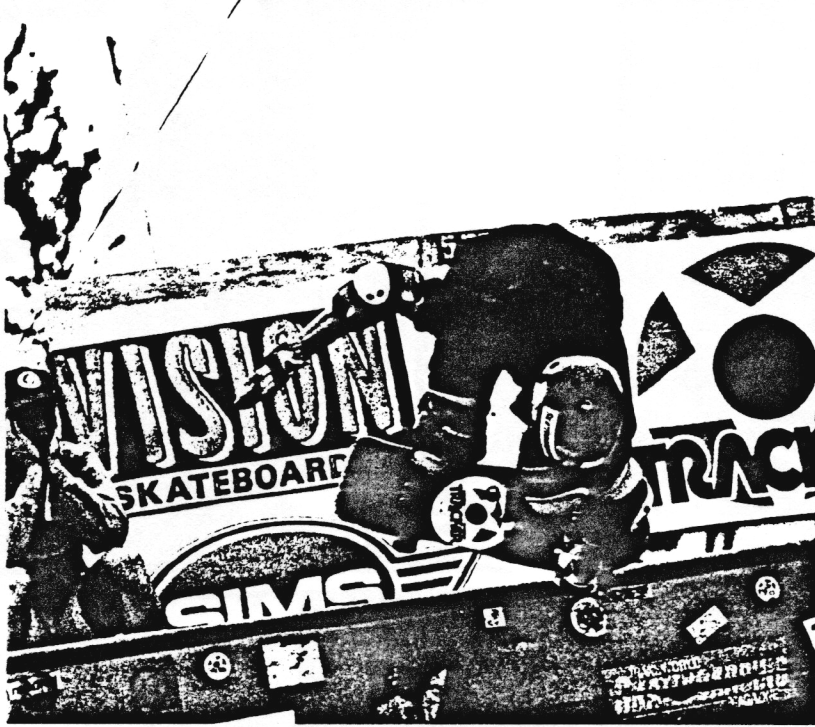

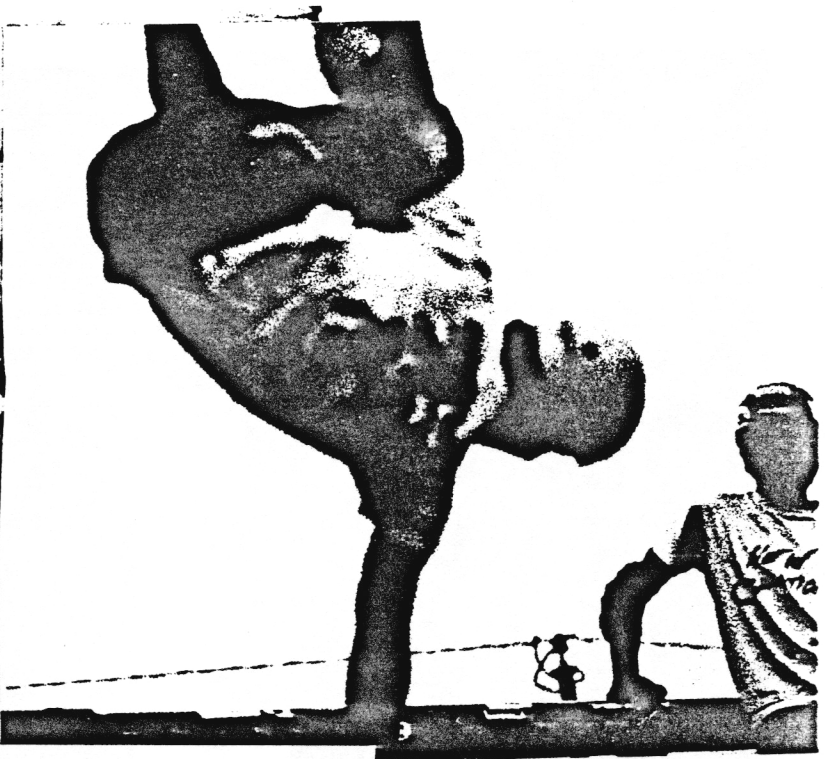

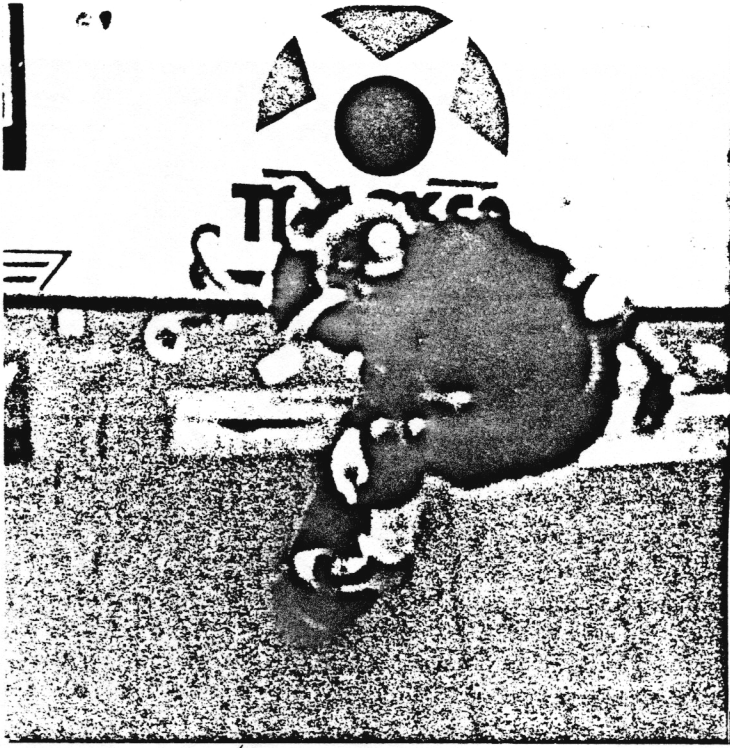

California is everything you make it up to be, so long as the weathers great, and the skating is beyond any words I can even find to write them with! Venture out there yourself, but don't ever foreget about your home skate scene, cause most of the time its better than any other.

In closing I wish to thank my cousin Shelia and Jose for putting up with me in San Francisco, Mr. and MRS. Manuel for letting me stay with them in Woodland Hills, Bill Posey for letting me come on in to see him at motobilt and his family, Lee Cole of Skates On Haight, MR. and MRS. Pinnedjian for letting me stay with them in West Minster and my parents for flowing me out there! Also sorry to those I couldn't make it to see; Beau Brown, Billy Ruff and Bryan Ridgeway, I'll definently see you dudes next time!

THE LORDS OF THE NEW CHURCH

Beefeater Opposes Reagan

by Butch Howell

On Saturday, April 12, I attended a Concert featuring the "hard core" band "Beefeater." This group put "soul" into hard core with their black guitar player who is almost as good as VanHalen's guitarist.

This band is a political group and they have a dislike for the Reagan Administration. They believe his politics hurt minorities, and they disagree with the administration's handling of Nicaragua and South Africa.

At the show there was a speaker from Nicaragua. He spoke about the money the Reagan Administration has sent to his country and declared that the money has been used to murder innocent people. He stated "Nicaragua would be better off if the U.S. would stay out of our Revolution."

Afterwards "Beefeater" talked about the protest marches that were going to occur in this country because of the injustices occurring in Nicaragua and South Africa.

The "Beefeater's" song for Reagan and his Cabinet is called "Reaganomix." This song talks about all Reagan has done to hurt America. It also states their feelings toward other leaders, too.

"Positive Force" is a group of people that set up demonstrations and shows. They were also at the Beefeater show. They were handing out pamphlets and small magazines to tell people when and where there are going to be demonstrations.

PLACE: EAST SIDE, DATE: APRIL 23 WED., BANDS: THE AMERICAN GIRLS AND LORDS OF THE NEW CHURCH.

EAST SIDE IS A REALLY NICE BRAND NEW CLUB NEAR THE PIERS SOMEPLACE. ITS SO OPULENT YOU CAN'T SLAM; IT DID'NT MATTER ANYWAYS CAUSE THE AMERICAN GIRLS SOUND HEAVY METAL AND WERE ABSOULOUTLY BAD. BUT THEY DO HAVE POTENTIAL! FINALLY TO THE SOUND YOU ARE ENTERING A PLACE NO OTHER HUMAN WILL EVER EXPERIENCE COMES LORDS OF THE NEW CHURCH! STIV TALKED THE BOUNCERS INTO LETTING US ON THE DANCE FLOOR. ONE DUDE WAS SLAMING AND FINALLY GOT BEAT UP! MY FAVORITE SONG WAS 'EAT YOUR HEART OUT'. WELL WORTH MY 10 BUCKS! WATCH FOR THEIR SONGS IN THE MOVIE CALLED DANGEROUSLY CLOSE!

BEFF STREET

TOMMY
CURBS

Beff Streets issue #3 from San Jose is your average skate zine; worth getting though. It concludes an interview with the inner city skater Tommy Guerrero. Tommy has skated the streets most of his life and will never stop! A must see picture of Brady pulling a McTwist at Montagu curbs. (pretty funny Randy and Ray) Besides their seriousness to the mag it also has great coverage on Hardcore bands—ie. Jesse Johnson. A must get for those going to be in the Northern Cal area! DATE: SATURDAY MAY 10
PLACE: FAIRVIEW (BURKE)
TIME: 9-12 PRAC. 12 CONTEST

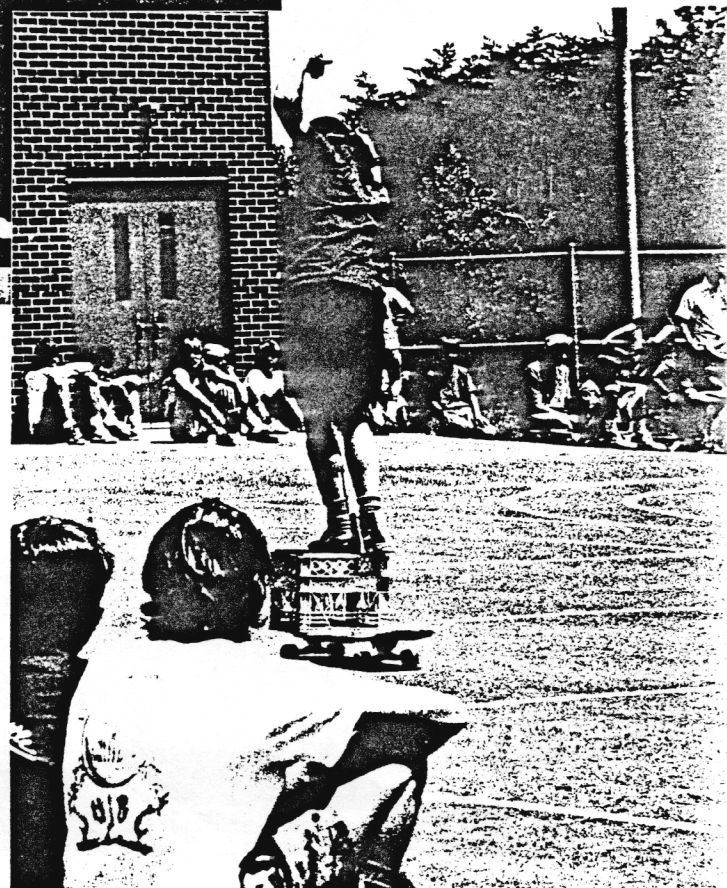

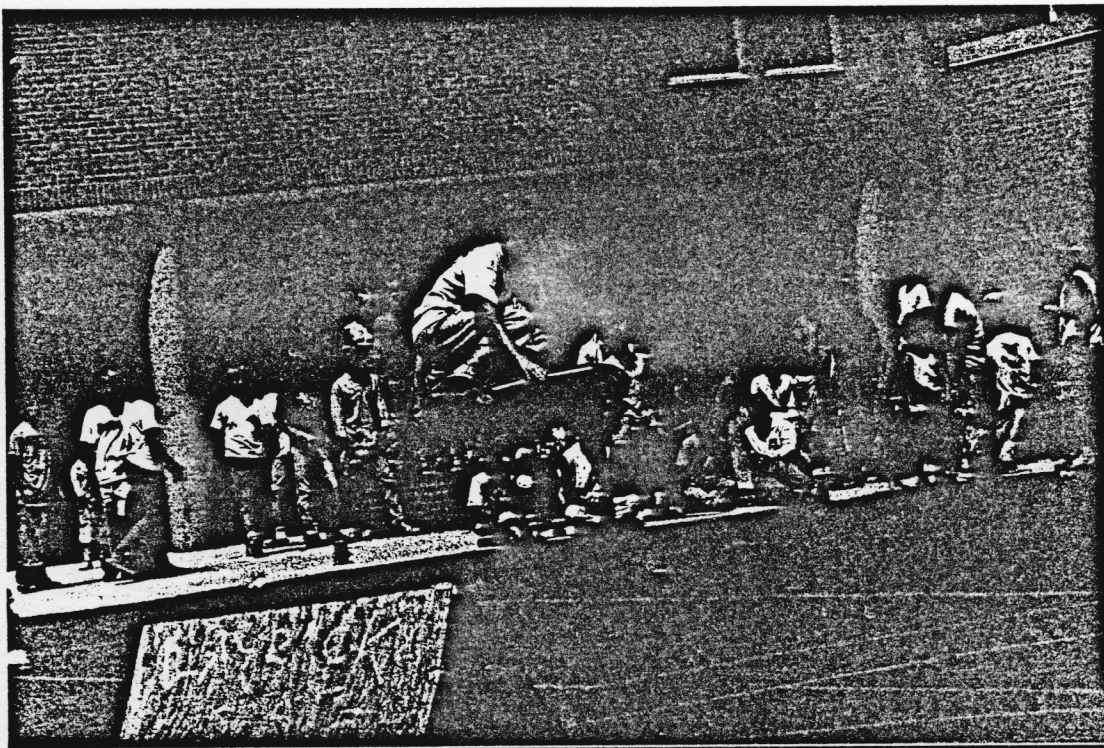

OKAY, THE CONTEST STARTED AT 12. PRACTICE WAS FROM 9-12, AT 12 THE 3A STARTED. THE 3AS WERE MAINLY YOUNG KIDS. SOME WERE PRETTY GOOD AND ALL GAVE IT A GOOD SHOT. THEY UTILIZED MAINLY THE RAMP. ONCE THE 2AS STARTED THINGS STARTED TO MOVE. NOT ONE ROUTINE LOOKED THE SAME. SOME WERE SERIOUS, SOME DORKED AND SOME BODY DOUBLED. THEY PRETTY MUCH UTILIZED EVERYTHING. SCREAMING CAME FROM THE 3AS. HIGH AIRS, NICE STREET PLANTS AND AMAZEMENT. THE 3AS UTILIZED EVERY OBJECT AND THEN SOME. I DON'T REALLY KNOW WHO WON WHAT CAUSE EVERYONE HAD TO LEAVE EARLY TO BE AT WORK BY 3. BUT BILL AND JASON RAN THE CONTEST GREAT!
